DENY RUMOR OF HOAX IN DRAMA OF SAND CAVE

Start Work Enlarging Crevise Which May Lead to Trapped Explorer

OFFICIALS BELIEVE STORY

Blasting and Use of Modern Machinery May Free Collins

Cave City, Ky.—Work was started Monday on a narrow fissure discovered some 50 feet from the entrance to Sand Cave where Floyd Collins is entombed, which W. D. Funkhouser, geologist, believes may prove a back entrance to the chamber near the imprisoned man. The fissure now is far too small for a man to enter.

The crevice was discovered by N. K. Ford while he was exploring beneath the ledge which overhangs Sand Cave. Ford, making his way along the ledge, moved leaves and other debris in hopes of discovering some place where a mass of gas infected into sand cave might be escaping from another passageway. About 50 feet from the entrance, covered with muck and debris, a pick and a crowbar were found.

Funkhouser expressed the opinion that Ford's find was property which Floyd Collins had used some time ago in endeavoring to explore the vicinity through some other tunnel than Sand Cave. The ledge under which the tools were found is the same which forms a semicircle from the maintenance.

By blasting and use of modern machinery now available, it is hoped that the fissure might be enlarged sufficiently to permit a man to pass where Collins had been unable to widen the crevice. The narrow crack appeared to be a dead end and H. E. Carmichael in charge of the work said it might prove to be a back entrance to the cavern the entombed man told rescuers he had discovered.

Glasgow, Ky.—There is no reason to doubt that Floyd Collins is imprisoned in Sand Cave, in the opinion of Paul Green, county attorney of Barrancoc.

"I do believe the man is there," he said. "At the present I have definite but only what has been rumored," Greer said. "The grand jury does not meet here until the first Monday in March and if I get any proof that any law was violated, or that Collins was locked in the cave, I will present the matter to the grand jury."

Circuit Judge Basil Richardson of Glasgow, in denying rumors attributed to him that the Collins' story might be a hoax, also expressed a conviction that Collins really was imprisoned in Sand Cave.

DENY REPORTS OF DOG HERO'S DEATH OF COLD

Nemo—According to a check made here Monday reports that Balto, leader of Gunnar Kason's team of Siberian dogs which made a trip during a blinding blizzard in the last lap of the relay race with diphtheria antitoxin, is dead, are untrue. Neither Balto nor any of the Kason dogs was frozen as reported from Fairbanks. Four dogs which came from the Yukon river section a year ago were slightly frozen in the bluffs but they were in harness Monday. They participated in the race but not in Kason's team.

FOG CAUSES TWO DEATHS IN NEW YORK

Harbor Traffic Is Hampered Seriously When Fog Envelopes Port

By Associated Press

New York—Two collisions of elevated trains occurred Monday morning during one of the worst fogs in years, and harbor traffic from ferry service to big shipping, was seriously hampered.

Several persons were reported killed and others injured in an elevated train collision in the Bronx.

Several were injured in a Brooklyn elevated collision and women were trampled when the rear car of one of the trains caught fire, according to one report.

Ten coal barges with several women and children aboard, were reported adrift in the upper East river.

While ambulances were being hurried to the scenes of the Bronx and collisions, police headquarters received a report of an elevated collision in Queens.

The police said that two persons were known to have been killed in the collision in the Bronx. The dead were a motorman in charge of one of the trains and a passenger. The subway train, loaded to capacity with passengers, had come to a stop at 218th street when an elevated train crashed into it from the rear.

In the harbor, liners kept to their berths or remained anchored off quarantine. Ferry service on all lines was seriously delayed. Incoming railroad trains also were late.

PULLMAN SURCHARGE IS LEGAL, COMMISSION SAYS

Washington, D. C.—Surcharges now imposed upon railroad passengers using Pullman facilities were held Monday by the interstate commerce commission to be justifiable and railroads were authorized to keep the practice in effect.

The approval of the surcharge, under which every passenger engaging Pullman accommodations pays to the railroad an amount equivalent to 50 per cent of the Pullman charge, resulted from the first step of an investigation into the earnings of the Pullman Co. and the terms of its contracts with railroads.

The decision declared that the investigation had not proceeded far enough for the commission to express conclusions as to the general reasonableness of Pullman charges, but that the surcharge has justified itself.

JOHN BULL TOO GENEROUS TO FRANCE, PRESS CLAIMS

London—John Bull, through the editorial columns of Monday morning's papers, is proclaimed a very generous fellow for the manner in which he has offered to treat France, with reference to her war debt. Here and there the writers are even of the conviction that he has been too generous at the expense of his own people.

A British note to France, published Monday, declines to agree that France's payments should be dependent upon Germany's full payment of the Dawes plan annuities and declares that Great Britain is willing to accept fixed annual payments irrespective of the Dawes proceeds with a further annual charge on the French share of those proceeds and makes known that Great Britain will devote any surplus beyond the requirements of meeting her American indebtedness to diminish the burdens of her allies.

THIRD VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH MAY DIE, REPORT

Milwaukee—The condition of Mrs. Hugh Owen, Waukegan, who was injured when a bus crashed into a parked truck Saturday morning in a fog, is said to be critical Monday. Two other victims of the accident, Mrs. Margaret Jones, a sister of Mrs. Owen, died of a broken back, and Miss Ruth Webster, a school teacher, died of a fractured skull. A coroner's investigation into the accident has been started.

FORMER EMPEROR IS ALARMED BY PACT OF JAPAN WITH SOVIETS

London—The Daily Telegraph quotes recent visitors to Doorn, Holland, as declaring that the former German emperor was extraordinarily excited by the news that an agreement had been reached between Japan and Soviet Russia.

"This treaty portends a tremendous change in the world's outlook," he is reported to have said. "The world which I alone among the rulers of Europe, predicted a quarter of a century ago now has materialized."

The repercussions of this event will shortly be felt in the relations of all the European states, and it is bound to cause deep thinking and heart searching in Germany and among the allies. France is backing the black races, Russia is backing the yellow, and America and England are backing the white. Where will Germany stand? Where should she stand?"

WOMAN IS SHOT BY FAKE DEPUTY

Man Claiming to Be Sheriff's Assistant Enters House

By Associated Press

Milwaukee — Mrs. Alma Boyd, 30 years old, was shot and seriously wounded by a man who entered her home and represented himself as a deputy sheriff Monday morning.

The shooting occurred Monday morning when a man entered the Boyd home where Mrs. Mary Grabow, a friend of the Boyd's lived. Mrs. Grabow said she heard a bit of conversation from an adjoining room where Mr. Boyd was, and then heard a shot fired.

"Mrs. Boyd was in bed when the man arrived," Mrs. Grabow told the police. "She dressed hurriedly and admitted him. I did not pay any attention to the conversation although I overheard the man say he was a deputy sheriff. I went into the room immediately after I heard the shot fired and found Mrs. Boyd lying on the floor with a bullet wound in her breast."

"Looking about I saw a pair of leather mittens such as automobile drivers wear and then I saw a man running down the street. I took after him but he was too fast for me."

At a hospital where Mrs. Boyd was taken police say she is suffering from two wounds which may have been inflicted by the one bullet. One is in her hand and the other in her body.

Joseph Boyd, the woman's husband who was not at home at the time of the shooting, has been asked to go to police headquarters for questioning.

U. S. BOLT FROM OPIUM MEETING SHOWS PROTEST

America Seeks to Enlist Sympathy of World Against Materialism

MINORITY IS OPPOSED

Twenty Eight Nations Stand at Side of U. S. in Attitude

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by The Post Pub. Co. Washington, D. C.—America's withdrawal from the opium conference is a dramatic effort to arouse the public opinion of the world against the materialism which permits the trade and revenue made out of opium production to block a humanitarian movement.

There was nothing sudden about the decision of President Coolidge in approving the recommendation of Stephen G. Porter, head of the American delegation, that the United States withdraw. The step has long been inevitable, the only question being what form of protest would be most effective.

The opium problem is complicated. Twenty eight nations have lined up with the American point of view. Great Britain and nine others are opposed. The British have India as their great obstacle to an agreement with America. For the sake of India the British are fighting against the control of opium production.

From the British viewpoint it is an internal matter, just as the Irish question was for many years until the public opinion of America and other countries entered the forum. Undoubtedly some of the strict nationalists in America will agree with Great Britain that domestic matters are domestic matters after all, and that the United States would be the first to resent the recommendations of an international conference that trade between America and its possessions, the Philippines, be subject to outside control. Yet there comes a time when the mere regulation of external commerce is not sufficient to stop at the source an evil that knows no frontiers, and this has been the argument of Mr. Porter for the American delegation.

The opium "bloc" in the conference at Geneva consists of Great Britain, France, Holland and Portugal, while those sympathetic with America include Japan, China, Canada and the South American countries. From the first it has been apparent that the subject would not be by a majority vote. Each sovereign nation can withdraw from the conference and refuse to be bound by the agreements. For many weeks the United States has been the aggressor and it has seemed as if a forcing of the American viewpoint would simply break up the conference and compel the opium countries to withdraw. The United States bided its time instead and when it was time for the agreement to be signed, withdrew. The other nations unquestionably will approve the compromise pact which has been drafted. America is in sympathy with all that it contains but insists it doesn't go far enough. From a practical standpoint the cooperation of the United States for what the agreement does cover is assured anyhow whether or not signature is attached later. The important fact is that America lets the whole world know that the question of opium control still is unsettled and fixes the responsibility plainly on the nations which have consistently blocked regulation.

An interesting thing also is that both Japan and China are as eager as America to have the drug evil stopped and that consideration of colonial trade by a few countries has prevented a great achievement for health and civilization.

NICKERSON AND COLEMAN NAMED BY PROGRESSIVES

By Associated Press

Milwaukee—Herley F. Nickerson and William Coleman, both of Milwaukee, were elected delegates to the National Conference for Progressive Political Action to be held at Chicago Feb. 21, at a meeting of the Wisconsin conference here Sunday.

Although uncertain what action the national conference contemplates, the Wisconsin conference for Progressive Political Action went on record as "favoring the formation of a national political party entirely independent and distinct from the existing political parties."

Another resolution adopted urges the state legislature now in session at Madison to promptly ratify the child labor amendment.

In addition to the election of Nickerson and Coleman as delegates, the women's section elected Miss Ada James of Richland Center and Miss Anita Koenen of Milwaukee as delegates to the women's section of the national conference.

The present officers of the Wisconsin conference were re-elected to hold office until after the first meeting called following the Chicago conference, which is to be held six months from that date.

A committee of three plus the present officers of the Wisconsin conference were named to select a committee of thirty-two from each congressional district and eight at large. This work will be completed before the next meeting.

Crazed Man Frets Because Firemen Try to Extinguish Burning Buildings

INMATE KICKED BY HORSE

One Man Seriously Hurt Trying To Get Horses Out of Barn

The disordered mind of a lunatic was responsible for a fire which destroyed three barns at the Outagamie county asylum here Sunday night, causing a loss of at least $25,000.

Making a rope of strips of bed clothing, Robert Carson, an inmate of the asylum, let himself out through a window and set fire to four buildings. The inmate escaped but was recaptured by police on a neighboring farm.

This is the second fire of consequence to occur on the property within a year and a half. In the summer of 1923 one of the largest barns was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The reconstructed building was one of the three to go up in smoke early Monday morning. All the cattle and other live stock was saved but a considerable amount of farm machinery was destroyed. The Appleton fire department helped save the remaining property which was threatened by a rising wind. When a 30,000 gallon pressure tank was emptied, water was pumped out of Mud Creek which runs through the asylum farm.

INMATE HAD GRUDGE The inmate, it appears, escaped from the men's quarters shortly before 1 o'clock Monday morning. It is understood that he harbored a grudge against the institution in general and against Superintendent Thomas Flanagan in particular. He intended to set fire to all the buildings, he admitted, and fretted because men were fighting the fire. He is heard to have uttered threats against the superintendent and is understood to have stored several instruments which he intended to use as weapons against him. He was placed in the county jail.

It was about 1 o'clock when the fire was first seen. The watchman roused others, and Mr. Flanagan immediately sent in an alarm for the Appleton fire department. Less than five minutes later three barns were being consumed rapidly as if they had all been set on fire at once.

INMATES HELP FIREMEN A company of firemen, a squad of Appleton police and deputy sheriffs, as well as workmen and a few inmates of the asylum worked feverishly to prevent the fire from igniting the remaining buildings. It was impossible to save the burning barns for the hay and straw stored in them burned too rapidly.

The east barn, which is the one that replaced the burned barn a year and a half ago, sent a great shower of sparks to three or four other frame buildings near it, but those buildings were spared, and even a straw stack about 50 feet from the barn was saved. The other two large barns were to the west of the newer building. A smaller building used as a machine shed burned half to the ground.

INMATE IS HURT The flames arising from four buildings on the asylum grounds gave the appearance that the entire institution was on fire. The screams of the frightened inmates produced an unusually effect. It was with great difficulty that the cattle were led to safety in other buildings. A horse became frightened and kicked an inmate, Albert Tram of Seymour. His legs were injured so severely that he had to be conveyed to St. Elizabeth hospital.

The buildings destroyed were old except for the one that replaced the burned barn of two years ago. The other two barns were built approximately 25 years ago but were in good condition. To replace them would cost considerably more than the amount estimated on the loss.

Two of the barns were 40 by 30 feet in size and the third was 40 by 100 feet. They were about 16 feet high. The buildings were valued at $20,000 according to Mr. Flanagan, and the contents were estimated by the superintendent at about $5,000. Two barns contained about 150 tons of hay, while the third had about 30 tons of straw. In addition to a quantity of farm machinery, the machinery consisted of six wagons, two manure spreaders, a mowing machine, a feed cutter, binder, rakes, hay tedders, etc.

Lines of hose were strung out from a fire hydrant on the premises which drew water from a high stand pipe tank containing about 30,000 gallons of water. When the water became low, the fire department truck had two lines of 500-foot hose from Mud Creek. The asylum had hose of its own which shot streams from the pressure tank.

RESUME INQUIRIES INTO OHIO STATE POISONINGS

Columbus, O.—On the verge of an impasse, investigation of the presence of poison in medicines given to Ohio State University students on Jan. 29 and 30 was resumed here Monday. Police Prosecutor John G. Chester in charge, hoped during the day to be able to hear the stories of the remaining students who were on duty in the dispensary during the week of Jan. 16 to 23 and to question to the four pharmacy instructors.

Unless Monday's questioning yields unexpected results, Chester admits that the investigation will have been fruitless so far. Students to be questioned Monday are among those who were on duty in the dispensary on the last day of the week.

Two students have not fully satisfied the prosecutor in all the details of the story. One student was accused by another with having been seen in the dispensary at a time when he admittedly had no business there. He will be asked to explain his alleged presence there.

Senator Spencer Irritates Lawmaking Colleagues

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington — The cockle-burr of the United States Senate is seldom palmer Spencer, the handsome, pink-cheeked junior member from Missouri.

To his fellow senators, Spencer often proves a most provoking person. He is always so sure of himself, so self-complacent, so tamely and irritatingly so in his estimate of himself and his judgments.

His very urbanity, his soft-soled insistence on the correctness of his own conclusions, is like that of a kindly missionary among the heathen.

Of course they may not understand what he is telling them, their undeveloped minds may not be able to grasp the great truths he is propounding, but now — the least indisputable — this way lies righteousness. That is the sort of attitude other senators feel he adopts toward them.

And it riles them much more deeply than any hammer-and-tongs attack filled with abuse and vituperation.

The more worldly ones in the Senate — and that is the big majority (for Spencer is regarded as the most religious man in the upper house) — are vexed by the very kindly tolerance with which he seeks to win them.

Most of them have won their way in rough-and-tumble political warfare.

But the superior individual who looks down upon them with a "poor souls, they know-not-what-they-do" forbearance, leaves them raging but speechless.

Senator Spencer's attempt to deal kindly with the officials involved in the late Teapot Dome oil scandal.

Must Have Regard For Mind of Worker

Rosebush Urges System of Promotions to Recognize Meritorious Service

Regards to the collective mind of the mill is one of the most important considerations in modern industrial relations, according to Judson G. Rosebush, president of Patten Paper Co., who spoke at the meeting of the World Outlook Forum Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Employees of the mills who organize, not for grievances alone, but from commitments which comprehend their obligations to the stockholders and are willing to act for constructive measures and not make their grievances the only justification for their existence are valuable assets to the company.

Settlement of grievances alone must not be the only functions of shop committees, Mr. Rosebush said.

Mills and factories should adopt a policy of promotion from within, Mr. Rosebush said. This policy not only provides for the recognition of meritorious services but also offers a local opportunity for ambitious young men coming from the school system.

Because of this opportunity, the future will bring closer contact between the school system and industry. Prompt recognition of what men are capable of, based on their service, should be the main idea of all business, Mr. Rosebush declared.

Vaccination Is Discussed By Nurses' Club

Miss Jennie Belle, industrial nurse at the Thilmany mill at Kaukauna, had charge of the program at a meeting of the nurses group of Appleton Women's club Saturday night. She gave a report on smallpox taken from The Nation's Health for September, 1924.

The report showed that after a lapse of eight or ten years the immunity secured through vaccination is greatly decreased. The German government, by requiring a vaccination at the age of six and another at the age of twelve, prevented epidemics in the German empire.

Figures from the United States public health service show that in 1922 there was a total of 27,822 smallpox cases in the United States. In 1923 the total was 26,731.

The meeting was followed by a social hour. The nurses have planned another meeting for next month and have invited graduate nurses to attend. The time is spent in discussing problems of the profession.

CLERKS LOSE, BUT BOSS WINS IN BOWLING MATCH

Members of the Postoffice Juniors bowling team that went to Oshkosh Saturday to play a team of that office are still wondering what their hoodoo was, for they came out with the short end of the score of 2823 to 2813. Even the best bowlers on the team were finding the gutter quite frequently. The Appleton men had some satisfaction, however, over the result of the singles match between Postmaster William H. Zuehlke of Appleton and Postmaster Ernest Schler of Oshkosh. The Appleton man not only rolled a 500 score to beat his opponent, but in one game rolled 235, the highest mark he has ever scored. The Appleton clerks and carriers have arranged for a return game to take place in Appleton soon, and the postmasters also will clash.

Here is the way to glistening teeth that dentists now advise

It removes that dingy film from your teeth. It clears cloudy teeth. Start beautifying your teeth today—why wait?

MODERN science now tells us how to clean and brighten dingy teeth. A new way widely urged by leading dentists of the world. Different in formula, action and effect, it does what no other method has yet attained—removes and combats, without harsh grit, the dangerous film that covers teeth and which old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth. You will feel that film. Under it are the prettier, whiter teeth you envy in others. If you combat that film your teeth will quickly glisten in a way that will delight you. Ask your druggist for a tube of Pepsodent. Results will amaze you.

The great enemy of teeth is the great enemy of tooth beauty. And a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of pyorrhea and most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Mail the coupon now. Don't expect the same results from old type dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

ANCIENT ENGINE IS NOW USED TO THAW CATCHBASINS

Fireengine Effective in Removing Ice From Sewer Covers

Kaukauna—The city's obsolete steam engine which saw service 50 years ago as a fire fighting apparatus is being used these days for an entirely different purpose. The machine has been turned over to the street department and has been found very efficient in thawing out frozen catchbasins.

Water has been standing all over the streets because a thick coating of ice over the catch basins of the sewers held back the flow. A barage of steam from the engine has been effective in cleaning out the sewer entrances.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Utility

Every Day in the Month Twelve Months in the Year

More motorists every day come to the conclusion that for year 'round utility there is no more practical or convenient car than a Ford.

The Fordor Sedan is roomy, comfortable, and attractive in appearance—inside and out.

In city traffic it handles and parks so easily that thousands drive it who could readily afford costlier cars.

On country roads it comes through where heavier cars frequently cannot. Such qualities as these have brought the Ford its well-deserved reputation as the "Universal Car."

STAGE And SCREEN

MOR AND SPECTACLE SCENES
FORSAKEN IN "THE WHITE
ROSE" FOR CHARACTER-IZATION

Probably the most delightful artistic and by far the greatest heart-appalling story yet to come from that master of the motion picture, D. W. Griffith, is his offering, "The White Rose" a United Artists Corporation release coming to the New Bijou theatre today and Tuesday.

It tells a story old in theme, simple and direct, but in such a manner as to make it possibly the one "big" outstanding picture production of the present season.

The tale has to do with an orphan girl and a young divinity student who meet when the latter is making a walking tour to learn of the world and its ways. What transpires results in a denouncement of compelling power and tender beauty.

Ma Marsh, after a long absence from the screen, returns with the most notable effort of her remarkable career. Her characterization of the orphan girl will long stand as one of the great things in the way of screen acting. Ivor Novello, a handsome young English actor, has won immediate recognition as the young preacher in this new story. Carol Dempster, so popular in several previous Griffith successes, essays the part of a girl of high Southern family and as only one of her distinguished refinement and intelligence might. Critical reviewers declare it the finest thing she has yet done.

As if it weren't enough to get a view of Hollywood's mysteries, the role of the reigning "vamp" is played by the alluring Anna Q. Nilsson. Although Anna Q. has never been associated with siren roles, she has made of Inez a most human and appealing character.

Lewis Stone is co-featured in the role of Stewart Cuyler, a rich man who "makes a play" for the vampire, but finally enmeshed in the meshes of true love for his younger sister, Fay thereby giving rise to a situation which the author has solved in a striking manner.

Pretty Mary Astor appears as Fay and Laurence Heath, remembered from his many pictures with Thomas Meighan, as Inez's business manager. Smit Edwards, Raquel Dione, Harry Depp, Ray Hallor and E. H. Calvert are also in the cast.

ISN'T LIFE WONDERFUL

Discarding the implements of melodrama, David Wark Griffith went to life itself for "Isn't Life Wonderful," his charming romance of love and potatoes, which opened Tuesday at the Appleton Theatre. It's a simple love story, told with a simplicity which no heart which holds the slightest spark of human feeling can withstand. It will go down into motion picture history as an epoch-making triumph in the entertainment world—the first moving picture to depict life itself; the first to move audiences to laughter and to tears by actually stirring their emotions to their depths.

"Isn't Life Wonderful" is a picture which will appeal to every class, to every age, to every clime. For it is essentially a tale of the human heart; a story of the feelings which exist in every breast. There is nothing "high-brow" about it; the smallest child, the most unlettered man will feel its power as strongly as the most experienced and the best educated.

It deals with such every-day matters as love, courage, hope—and potatoes. Its scenes are laid in Germany after the war, when refugees poured into Berlin by the thousand, seeking shelter that was not to be had, and food which did not exist. The constantly decreasing value of the mark made matters worse. Among the weary ones fleeing from the chaos of Poland into this maelstrom of misery come Paul and Inga, a boy and girl happy in a mutual deathless love.

TROOP CONTESTS WILL BE FEATURE OF SCOUT RALLY

All Scouts of Valley Will Gather at Kaukauna Wednesday for Demonstration

Troop contests will be a feature of the rally of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, at 7:30 Wednesday evening at the auditorium at Kaukauna. A large attendance is expected if the weather is favorable and parents and townspeople will be urged to turn out. This is one of the big events of boy scout anniversary week.

Inspection and review of the troops at Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Kimberly will be the first event on the program. Troop demonstrations then will take place. These will include tent pitching, building fire by friction, first aid and other stunts. Each troop is allowed to select its own activity.

One of the interesting contests will be a rescue race with a man from each troop taking part. The contestants will try to reach the patient first, affix two bandages, provide an improvised stretcher and carry him from the field.

Human towers for signaling will be built and there will be a signaling contest. Two boys from each troop will be entered and speed and accuracy will govern the winner.

Eight scouts from each troop will take part in a knot tying relay race. Some fun will be provided in an indoor tilting contest using barrels and poles.

LEGION CAMP WILL BE READY IN MAY

State Department Provides Place for Disabled Men to Recover Strength

Milwaukee—Since announcement of the building program for the American Legion Restoration camp more than 200 requests have come in to the organization's headquarters here for billets in the camp, according to a statement given out today by James P. Burns, state service officer of the Legion.

In explaining the need for the camp, Mr. Burns declared that government hospitals turned men out cured but could not provide for the strain of a weakened condition in a disabled veteran. He must compete with able bodied men after he leaves the hospital. The camp, declared Mr. Burns, will enable a disabled man to regain the necessary strength and peace of mind to carry on without fear of a breakdown.

The camp, upon which construction will start in February, will cost approximately $25,000 and will be maintained by the state department of the Legion. Billets will be assigned to veterans for periods of one to four months, in special cases a man will be allowed to stay at the camp for a year.

One of the features of the camp is that a veteran will be allowed to take his family along for the entire period of his stay. No charges will be made either for the veteran or his family. According to Mr. Burns, the idea of the camp is to prevent the usual separation of the veteran from his family during the rest period. It is believed that this feature will go far toward working a complete cure.

Maj. A. J. Lytle, Rhinelander, who is chairman of the camp construction committee, has announced that construction would begin at once. The first section will be ready in May and will accommodate approximately 200 persons.

59 Maps Sent To Post-Crescent Readers In Week

Fifty-nine maps of the United States were mailed to Appleton residents by Frederic J. Haskin, director of the Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau at Washington, D. C., during the week ending Jan. 29. Pamphlets on concrete were mailed to 14 persons, 13 books on sewing were sent and 10 booklets for housewives.

Booklets on annual flowers, dates, home convenience, recipes, knitting, laundry, meat, modern homes, oranges, rats, school lunches, stains, as well as calendars and word books, were sent to readers of the Post-Crescent during that week.

Four questions were answered, one hundred thirty-six miscellaneous bulletins were mailed and one hundred and thirty-six pamphlets were sent out in response to coupons received.

DEATHS IN A. A. L. CLIMB WITH WINTER

Death claims filed with the Aid Association for Lutherans took their customary climb during January, according to the report submitted at the monthly meeting of the board of trustees Thursday afternoon. There were 14 deaths, for which beneficiaries received $15,250 in insurance.

Gains in membership during the month amounted to 526 persons, with policies amounting to $617,500.

January, February and March are the months of each year when the largest number of deaths occurs, the mortuary records of the association show. The peak usually is reached in February. April sometimes has a high total, but this depends on the severity of the weather.

More sick benefits have been paid out this winter for throat and lung ailments than at any previous time. The afflictions of this kind, including colds, tonsillitis, grip, bronchitis and pneumonia, seem to amount to almost a mild epidemic because of their general prevalence.

CITIES CONTEST REPORT LIMIT SET

Committees Are to File Scoring Schedules Not Later Than March 15

March 15 has been set by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., chairman, as the date by which all of the ten committees in the better cities contest of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work must have their scoring schedules completed. Each chairman will be notified to push the work so that the social inventory of the city will be ready by that time.

A time limit has been set because a visit will be made here by Aubrey Williams of Madison, executive secretary of the conference, to go over the reports and offer his suggestions for corrections or revision before they are sent to the judges.

Mr. Williams has written the local contest officials offering to pay this visit. He declares that there may be some parts of the scoring which committees may find it impossible or difficult to do. In cases where something must be left incomplete he will give what assistance he can to obtain the needed data.

Some of the committees already have their scores almost completed showing the advantages of Appleton as a place of residence for social, health, educational and other reasons.

With the final appointment of the committee on public administration, it is possible that Appleton can enter the fire waste contest of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and compete for a prize there as well as the $1,000 award in Wisconsin. One department of the public administration schedule is devoted to fire prevention and Chief George P. McGilgan of the fire department is in charge.

FARMERS PETITION FOR RELIEF FROM INUNDED LAND

New Maple Creek-Lebanon
Drainage District Will Be Created to Save Crops

Creation of a district to drain 770 acres of land in town of Maple Creek Outagamie-co. and town of Lebanon, Waupaca-co., was taken up at a field hearing of petitioners Thursday at the Waldmar place near Maple Creek. L. M. Schindler of this city, engineer of Waupaca co. drainage board, attended the meeting.

Petitioners who desire the drainage district established are William Prochnow, William Mueller, Alvin Handschke, Edward and Clifford Rose, Herbert Stichtman and Robert Hutchison. They testified that their land yielded crops only in dry summers and that much of their property was under water in wet seasons. Some declared that their entire crops were destroyed last summer because of the continuous rainfall.

Those who signed the petition own 477 acres out of the 770 through which the ditch would pass. About 45 per cent is in Outagamie-co. and the remainder in Waupaca-co. The matter is in the hands of Waupaca co. drainage board, therefore, because the greatest part is in the neighboring county. Other farmers within the district who would be assessed benefits and damages are August Rohloff, George Schuetter, Edward Hutchison and Mrs. Anton Schantz. The first three were opposed to the project and did not sign the petition. About 30 per cent of the land has been cleared and is either under cultivation or used for pasture and the farmers therefore say they are hit hard when high water besets them. Mr. Schindler has suggested a tile drain for two miles and an open ditch for about half a mile at the source. The tile would range from 3 to 16 inches in diameter. It is believed the cost will be about $4,100.

Specifications for the project will be submitted to the state drainage engineer for approval. A hearing will then be held by Waupaca co. drainage board in Waupaca co. court so objections may be filed if there are any.

The Sunset Trail, which had its world-premiere only a few months ago will be broadcast from KOA Monday night. The Sunset Trail is an Indian Operatic cantata in two scenes and its first presentation in Denver drew 5,000 people. John G. Wilcox, director at that time, will have charge of the work tonight. Choral passages of the opera will be sung by 40 selected voices from the original chorus of ninety persons. The program starts at 9 o'clock with an introduction of original Indian songs founded on native melodies with his torical explanation. A group of instrumental selections by the Koda Koda orchestra and an address, Primitive Colorado by J. A. Jeanson, curator of archeology and ethnology of the Colorado museum are included in the program.

Speaking in connection with the Fifteenth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, Dan Beard, National Scout Commissioner will address the radio audience from WEAF Monday night. He will talk from 7:30 to 7:45.

The old-time Adlon will again take the air from WOS Monday night. WIA is testing its new wave length of 538 meters with a course of lectures on food and nutrition as applied to personal health and happiness every Monday night. The lectures, which are given by Mrs. Nellie L. ## Father Allouez Was An Ice-Boating Missionary Iceboaters who go skimming merrily over the frozen waters of our Wisconsin lakes these crisp winter days would be astonished to learn that one of the first, probably the first, recorded instance of the sport in these parts is in the case of a poor missionary who heaved his way through the middle western forests two centuries and a half ago.

After the tragic death of Father Marquette in 1675 a successor was needed to carry on his work among the Illinois Indians, and Father Claude Allouez was appointed to the post. He set out from St. Francis' mission (the present De Pere) in October, 1676, and, nothing daunted by the approach of winter, he waited until the ice had formed on Lake and river. Then, to use his own words, "Instead of putting the canoe in the water, we placed it on the ice, over which the wind, which was in our favor, and a sail made it go as on water."

AN INTREPID VENTURE
This ice boating of Father Allouez was a fitting climax to his labors in Wisconsin, which had extended over a decade, beginning with the year 1665, when, after innumerable hardships suffered on his way from Three Rivers Canada, he arrived at Chequamegon bay, not far from where the city of Ashland stands today. He had made the long, toilsome journey in company with several hundred savages who repeatedly took pains to tell him that he wasn't wanted. Nevertheless, he pushed on to his destination and set up his humble birch bark chapel at La Pointe—a classic example of a man who didn't know when he was licked!

His four-year term of service at La Pointe over, Father Allouez turned his steps southward along the west shore of Lake Michigan; camped during the winter of 1680-1681 at the mouth of the Oconto river and eventually, at the rapids of the Fox five miles from Green Bay, he established the mission of St. Francis Xavier.

FEW RELICS OF OLD MISSION

It must have been an interesting place, this rude log mission house and chapel, for it was the center of a varied, colorful life such as only a frontier outpost can know. Here lived the French commandant, here came the woodsmen and the traders and the 2,000 Christian Indians for advice and counsel and here Marquette rested after his adventurous exploration of the Mississippi.

All that remains of St. Francis' mission is a majestic rock on its stone pedestal overlooking the Fox river near the St. Paul station in De Pere. On it is a bronze tablet which assures one that "Near this spot stood the chapel of St. Francis Xavier, built in the winter of 1671-72 by Father Claude Allouez, S. J., as the center of his work in Christianizing the Indians of Wisconsin" and that "This memorial tablet was erected by the citizens of DePere and unveiled by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin Sept. 6, 1899."

Another relic of the mission, a very precious one, is in the possession of the State Historical society. It is a monstrance, made to be used in the service of "Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament" and presented to the mission by Nicholas Perrot in 1686. When St. Francis' passed into oblivion the monstrance was lost, not to be recovered until 1802, when it was plowed up at the old mission site. So far as Father Allouez is concerned, one gathers that he was not only a good man, but a kindly one as well and possessed moreover, of a shrewd knowledge of human nature. One likes to think of him in his improvised ice-boat on Green Bay. He must have been what now a days we would call a "go-getter."—Milwaukee Journal.

The Merchant's 'Turn-over'

A good store in which to buy does not necessarily carry the largest stocks.

Large stocks often contain "shelf warmers"—undesirable goods; left-overs or shop-worn.

Our stocks are completely replaced several times each year—spic and span new goods are almost constantly coming in and going out.

This is what the merchant calls "turn-over"—the more times he can turn his stock each year the healthier his business is.

Frequent "turn-over" insures new, up-to-date, reliable goods at all times.

TRINITY CHURCH PLANS TO ERECT PARISH HALL

Neenah—A new hall is to be erected by the Trinity Lutheran congregation on its property on Oak-st. A meeting of trustees was held Sunday afternoon to look over plans. The new hall will be large enough for social gatherings of the church, gymnasium work and any purpose the church may see fit. When the church was erected many years ago no basement was placed under the edifice so the need for a meeting place has been steadily growing until it has been found necessary to erect this new building. If the plans are accepted work will be started early in the spring.

BOAT BREAKS THRU THIN
ICE ON MOUTH OF RIVER

Neenah—Losing his way in the fog on Lake Winnebago, Sunday afternoon, Ben Blonk, Fifth-st., drove his iceboat into open water. Blonk had been sailing about the lake during the afternoon and in an effort to get back to where he kept his boat, sailed too close to the mouth of the Neenah river, the thin ice breaking beneath the weight of the craft which dropped into the water. The young man had no difficulty in getting to a place in which to pull himself out. The boat was taken out of the lake later in the afternoon.

A RIDDLE

When a man is in love the world is his, and he's on the very top of it. He whistles as he shaves. He sings in the shower bath. He wears his most talkative neckties. And he drives his car with the throttle wide open. He wants even the traffic cop to know he's in love!

But with the girl it's different. She's in a little world of her own. She dreams her own love story into every moving picture she sees, into every best-seller she reads. She pictures herself, for her lovers' eyes, in every frock in every shop window along the avenue.

For once she does not confide to her best friend "what he said to me and what I said to him." Her slogan is: Why speak of love?

After marriage that's all changed. Her husband is her main topic of conversation. The sewing circle knows what he likes for breakfast and what he thinks of women who smoke! She airs his opinion on everything and everybody from Billy Sunday to Billie Burke.

But a man never discusses his wife. He's as sphinx-like about her as she is about her exact age.

And to women this is the riddle of the universe. Long after the last crossword puzzle is solved wives will still be wondering what husbands can find to talk about to each other.

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: My neighbor's little boy often plays in my yard with my little boys. They quarrel, and I bring my children into the house and send hers home. She is angry about this. Isn't it the best way to manage the children?—Mrs. Mother.

I think it would be better if you and your neighbor let the children alone. They would probably quarrel and make up a dozen times a day, without troubling anyone, even themselves, if you did this.

Dear Miss Grey: I like to smoke cigars. My fiancée says he simply will not marry me until I give up the habit. Is he justified in his attitude?—Florine.

From a health standpoint, he is. And isn't he trying to protect you from gossip? People in general are not yet tolerant of the woman who smokes. For your own sake, give up cigars.

Miss Gray: Please tell me the names of some of the newest fiction for a friend of mine who is in the hospital.—Nightingale.

Sard Herker, by John Masefield; Saint Martin's Summer, by Rafael Sabatini; Siege Perilous, by Maurice Biber; and Golden Ballad, by H. De Vere Sturges. They are all unusually good stories. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service Inc.)

FERNERY FOR DINING

Dining can be made more pleasant with a fernery in the window. It may be a potted plant on a round stand, or in a long window box.

Golden Tresses For All

The girls are gilding their locks in Paris now. In the theaters, in the cabarets, at all sorts of parties, they are wearing golden and silver wigs. They just slip them on over their bobbed locks. Desfosse, the designer, originated the fad.

Favors To Use And Games
To Play At Your Party
On St. Valentine's Day

St. Valentine's day is the prince among party days.

It is one day in the year when sentimental games and decorations are appropriate and amusing rather than mushy and serious. Therefore, in arranging your valentine party, do not be afraid that your guests will be embarrassed by your preparations in the way of favors and games.

The first thing to consider is the invitation. A decided warmth and personal touch are added by the use of home-made invitations.

As a suggestion trace two overlapping hearts on ordinary note paper or postal card. In the upper right-hand corner put your address. Over the heart lines print the following verse:

I'm entertaining Saturday.
This is just a note to say:
"Come join this little gang of mine
And be somebody's Valentine."
Sign your name below the verse.

When the guests are assembled, the first game may be a guessing contest. Two or three copies of the following questions should be posted on the walls, so that all may see them with facility, as they write down on their individual slips of paper simply the numbers of the questions and their answers. They are given 10 minutes in which to complete the list, or the hostess may read aloud the questions, one at a time, and allow about three-quarters of a minute for each.

Cupid as a Modern Man

1. What kind of a collar would he wear? ("Arrow")
2. What kind of tie? (Bow.)
3. What flower? (Forget-me-not.)
4. What clothes would he spurn? (A divorce "suit.")
5. What three rings would he favor? (Engagement ring, wedding ring, ring of wedding bells.)
6. What would he do in a battle? Engage the enemy.
7. What path would he travel? (Bridal.)
8. What kind of moon would he like? (Honey-moon.)
9. What would be his favorite candy? (Kisses.)
10. His favorite fruit? (Dates and Peas.)
11. What boat would he ride? (Courtship.)
12. What currency would he use? (Matrimony.)
13. What musical term would he advocate? (A Flat.)
14. What would be his favorite animal? (Deer.)
15. What kind of music would he like? (Band.)

Another game is to similarly post the following uncompleted verse:
Oh, dearest one, that I adore,
You're in my mind forevermore;
And last night as the breezes blew

Each guest is given a piece of plain paper about postcard size and in addition to the verse may add any decorations desired to make it a perfect valentine.

The winner is judged by the character of the last line of the verse, in conjunction with the decorations and general appearance of the valentine. The prizes may, if desired be given—one for the most appropriate completion of the verse; one for the best all around sentimental valentine; and one for the best comic valentine.

It will be found a very simple mat-

LETTER FROM JAMES CONDON TO SALLY ATHERTON

Dear Sally: You'll be surprised, I know, to get a letter from me, for until now I have scrupulously kept the vow I made to myself when I left you that morning at the train some months ago.

At that time I said to myself that with the exception of a bread and butter letters of the most conventional kind I would never write to you or see you again if I could help it.

You pretty thoroughly disillusioned me, Sally, for you showed me a woman whose heart is always ruled by her head, and I do not like that kind of a woman. You did tell me one or two truths of which I shall speak later, however.

I think I kept my view. Indeed I do not think I even wrote you the note I was supposed to write thanking you for your kindness to me while in your city. At that, I am not sure you were very kind. You spent most of your time while I was there with John Prescott on the plea that he was your boss and you had some very important business with him.

Of course you're not a young and inexperienced girl, Sally, but after I had gotten home I wondered if it would not have been better both for you and for me if I had told you something that your husband told me once. It was apropos to one of our bosses being seen at dinner with his stenographer at a well-known cafe.

"Jimmie," he said, "some day you're going to be a boss of some big business, and let old Sam give you a piece of advice for you to remember at that time. When that day comes, never have any kind of flirtation or affair with any woman in your office. If you must have a stenographer or your personal staff, take your friend's stenographer, not your own. Taking a woman out of your office always gets both you and the girl into trouble."

"Don't you see, you can't discharge a woman for bad work or insubordination in the office to whom you have spoken words of love, and if she is a crack-brained stenographer you have to keep her on although you have grown tired of her as a sweetheart and it makes you sick to see her around. It works out all wrong both ways."

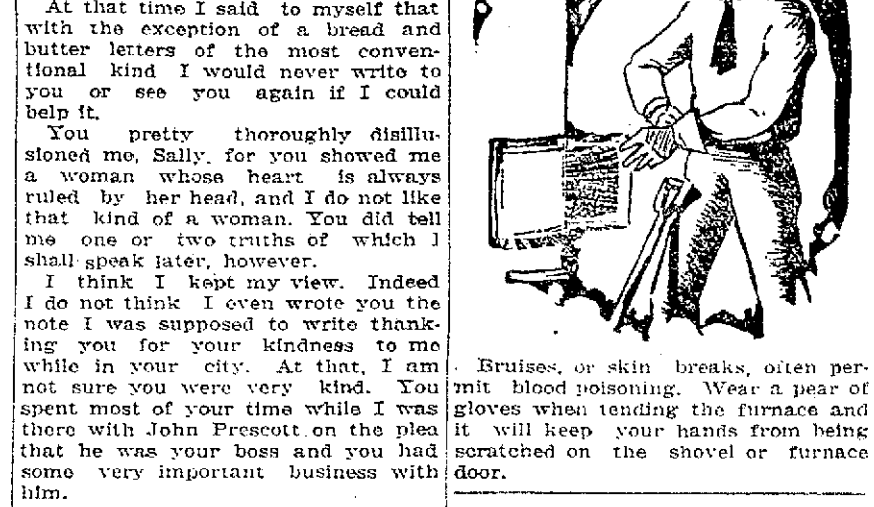

I've been wondering lately how it is with you, Sally. I hope you have had sense enough to have nipped any personal interest that John Prescott seemed to be showing you, in the bud.

I needn't tell you at this late date that you are a very fascinating woman, Sally. You are always plucking a man's curiosity. He wants to explore both the recesses of your mind and heart—and you like it, Sally, you know you do. You lead him on. You make him think he is just about to solve the mystery, that unfaithful feminine mystery which men have tried to solve since Eve, and which is still a mystery to them.

I could see that John Prescott was exceedingly interested in you, and although you denied it to me, I could see you were exceedingly interested in him, for otherwise you would not have thrown me down to make engagements with him.

Sally, I am sure your love of adventure will some time get you into trouble, and I expect what I am writing to you is getting me into trouble all right with you. You are wondering why I am writing you—why, after vowing I would never write again, I am going on in this strain. It is because I have a confession to make and being very happy at the present moment myself, I want you to be happy.

Of The Twins

THE STUPID PROFESSOR

Snitcher Snatch, the goblin, was hiding in the professor's house under the sofa.

The professor was trying to work a crossword puzzle.

And the goblin nearly died laughing because he knew a thing or two. He knew that the crossword puzzle was all mixed up. He had seen to that.

"Frozen water in three letters," said the professor. "That's very, very hard! Let me think."

So he put his glasses on and thought and thought. "It must be ice," he said finally. "I can think of nothing else."

So he wrote down "ice."

The next was, "What is the day after Friday?"

"My, my, my!" said the professor. "It's a good thing that I am a learned man. No simpleton could guess this. It can't be Wednesday or Monday or Sunday or Tuesday or Thursday, so it must be Saturday."

And he wrote down "Saturday."

The next question was, "What animal kills mice and says 'mew'?"

"I'm afraid I shall have to think of this for a bit," said the professor. "It may be some rare creature that lives at the South Pole. One must not make up his mind too quickly."

At that minute there was a rattling on the door and when the professor opened it, he walked Johnny Sweep and the Twins.

"Did you see a goblin called Snitcher Snatch?" asked Johnny.

"No, I didn't," said the professor. "I've no time for goblins. I don't believe in such nonsense. Can you work crossword puzzles?"

"Yes," said Nancy. "What is the next one?"

The professor told them about the house killing creature that said "mew."

"Cat," said Nancy quickly.

"Do you really think so?" exclaimed the professor. "I'll put it down."

The next question was, "What does a cow give?"

"Milk," said Nick.

"But sometimes it gives you a kick," said the professor, but he put down "milk."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN
(A Menu for the Stout and Thin)
EAT AND—
Lose Weight—Gain Weight

Three large unsweetened stewed prunes, 4 tablespoons vegetable hash on toast with 1 poached egg, ½ head lettuce with sliced radishes and onions and pepper, 1 cup clear soup, ½ broiled live lobster, 1 tomato sliced with ½ medium sized cucumber on 3 ounces lettuce with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons rhubarb baked with 6 raisins, 2 crisp pieces gluten toast, 3 bread sticks, 2 thin slices gluten bread, 1 pint skimmed milk, 1 tablespoon butter for lobster.

Total calories, 1178. Protein, 353; fat, 258; carbohydrate, 540. Iron, .0198 gram.

If you love lobster you will be glad to know that you can eat it freely if it's just boiled or broiled. The average "chicken" lobster weighs around 1½ pounds before it is cooked and as the shell is the heaviest part of it you can eat a whole one and not use more than 150 calories. However, each tablespoon of melted butter adds 100 calories of fat so beware of any sauce. But lobster in Newburg and deviled lobster and all the fancy lobsters are not for the likes of you. Lobsters have no iron content, as all meats and most other fish have, so you must make up the deficiency in other foods.

The vegetable hash as calculated contained carrots, asparagus, string beans, a bit of onion and just enough potato to hold the whole together.

Well, they all helped and bye and bye the words were all guessed.

"I'll just go over them," said the professor. "To make sure that there are no mistakes."

He didn't notice the little black squares changing around and the letters jumping to new places.

This is what the professor read to the astonished children.

The 1924 Way
The tooth paste now advised by authorities

Last summer, four great organizations combined their skill and experience to create the utmost in a tooth paste. Three of them had studied dental problems for 50 years and over.

The object was to meet modern requirements in the best ways known to science.

The result was a tooth paste containing 16 ingredients, designed to do all things at once. They called it the Formula of 1924. Anyone who will may employ it.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia has adopted that formula. It forms the best we know in a dentifrice today.

Based on magnesia

Magnesia is the chief ingredient. Nothing else is so important to the teeth.

Magnesia neutralizes acids, the cause of tooth decay. Fermenting food forms acid between and around the teeth. A touch of magnesia destroys them.

We are the makers of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, standard with dentists for 50 years. Here we use a concentrated form to penetrate between the teeth and stay. Thus it applies a super-magnesia in a way to do maximum good.

That is essential. It is folly to let acids attack your teeth.

Other things important

But other things are needed. This tooth paste contains four antiseptics, to combat the germs which breed by millions in the mouth. It contains iodine to protect the gums.

A fruit-oil cleanser does the cleaning. Two polishers, safe and efficient, whiten and beautify the teeth. Deodorants are used to foster sweeter, purer breath.

Every use of Phillips' Dental Magnesia applies all these helps at once.

Use it tonight

Go get it now. Your druggist has it in the latest form. Do not sleep another night without magnesia on your teeth. Start now to fight all foes of teeth in these effective ways.

You will find the results so pleasant, so complete that you will never again go without them.

They are light graceful waltzes with lovely melodies, there is something yielding, something compelling about them. The different sections of this ensemble take part in playing with their irresistible rendition. After hearing this record there is little reason to wonder why the records of this band are enjoying such a big sale throughout the entire country.

FOUNTAIN DUE TO 'RIDE GOAT' INTO LUMBERMEN FRAT

Appleton Man Will Preside at State Meeting of Lumber Association

William Fountain, president of the J. Fountain Lumber company, will preside at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen association, which will be held in the Pflaster hotel, Milwaukee, Feb. 10, 11 and 12. He has been president of the association during the past year.

Others from Appleton who will attend are William J. Roemer, Robert Schmidt, William Nemacheck, William Commens and R. W. Geischove. Lumbermen from every section of the state will attend and Mr. Fountain has been advised by Don S. Montgomery of Milwaukee, secretary of the organization, that the attendance is certain to surpass that of any previous meeting.

WILL GIVE ADDRESS

The morning of the opening day will be given over to registration and inspection of the exhibits. The convention will officially open at 2 o'clock in the Pflaster room of the Pflaster with President Fountain's address. Mr. Montgomery, secretary, and H. W. Wilbur of Milwaukee, treasurer, will make their reports. Douglas Malloch of Chicago will close the session with an address, "The Average Man." In the evening there will be a dinner-dance and cabaret in the ballroom of the Antlers hotel.

Addresses will be made at the Wednesday session by Arthur T. Upson of Washington, D. C., lumber standards adviser of the National Lumber Manufacturers association; Edward P. Ivory, manager of the California extension bureau of the California White and Sugar Pine Manufacturers Association of San Francisco; H. J. Colman of Chicago, representative of National Retail Lumber; Edward P. Ivory, manager of the Dealers association "Old Homes Made New" will be the subject for general discussion.

Wednesday evening the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo, the international fraternal order of lumbermen, will stage an initiation, or contestation, in the Pflaster room. President Fountain is one of the "Kittens" who will have his eyes opened and his "tail" curled to become a full-fledged black Hoo-Hoo cat. Two of the international officers, Ted T. Jones, Supreme Junior Hoo-Hoo of Minneapolis, and Henry R. Isherwood, secretary treasurer of St. Louis, will attend.

Vice-governor Ernest A. Ehler of Milwaukee will be in charge of the initiation ceremony, assisted by members of the Milwaukee Hoo-Hoo club, which was organized recently.

Those attending the initiation will go to the roof of the Wisconsin hotel after the event, and will be joined by the ladies who are to be guests at a theater party. A dance will be held later.

Other speakers who will address the convention are: John M. Kelley of Baraboo; James T. Drought, association counsel, of Milwaukee; P. M. Elkinton, Milwaukee; Senator W. A. Trues, Fond du Lac; and representative of the John Schroeder Lumber company.

Election of new officers and directors will take place Thursday morning.

Tuesday afternoon the thirtieth annual meeting of the Retail Lumbermen Mutual Insurance company will be called to order by President William O. Hoffman of Port Atkinson. Officers and directors will be elected and the secretary's report is to be read.

HOLD BABY CLINIC ON FEB. 10 AND 11

Appleton Womens club will conduct another free baby clinic at the clubhouse Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 10 and 11. Dr. Sylvia Stuever of the state department of health at Madison again will be here to take charge of the work.

Examinations will be made from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Florence Whipple, city nurse, has requested these mothers who have been asked to bring their children for a second examination to attend the clinic either Tuesday or Wednesday morning. Mrs. C. O. Grechnauer, assisted by a number of Appleton nurses, make up the local group in charge of the work.

The clinic is free and any mother who wishes to have her child examined may bring it to the clubhouse on these days.

40 SPECIAL WIRES TO STATION KDKA

Pittsburg Is Network of Wires to Supply Radio Fans With Programs

Pittsburg, Pa. — Pittsburg challenges the rest of the country with the contention that it is the most complete radio city of all.

Not only does this city of steel claim pioneering honors in broadcasting, but it adds the claim of being the most completely interlocked city in the country, so far as radio is concerned.

More than 40 special wires radiate from station KDKA, 12 miles from here, and connect it with every center of amusement, religion, business and other activity of importance in and about the city. Each of these centers is a miniature broadcasting station when it transmits through KDKA.

A number of churches of various denominations have pick-up stations with microphones at their pulpits for the broadcasting of different services.

AIR COLLEGE

Lectures and actual courses of instruction are being conducted at regular intervals by means of the pick-up stations located in the colleges and other educational institutions about Pittsburg.

Theaters, clubs, concert halls, athletic centers and hotels have permanent connections to KDKA, so that their programs may be sent over the air whenever they arrange it.

All these pick-up stations are connected by special direct wire to station KDKA. All that needs to be arranged for broadcasting is the installation of the microphone at the source.

SPECIAL BROADCASTS

Besides these 40 or more regular pick-up points, microphones are frequently installed at various points where entertainments and athletic games are being conducted. Special lines are brought direct to the station.

KDKA itself has four broadcasting studios. The original studio is still at the Westinghouse plant in East Pittsburg. Another is at the University of Pittsburg, a third is at East Liberty, suburb of Pittsburg, and the fourth is in the downtown district of Pittsburg.

The last is used most often, because of its convenience for visitors. Musical and other programs of entertainment come mostly from this studio. The University studio covers the special lecture courses there, and the East Liberty branch takes care of market and stock reports.

THANK PARENTS OF PUPILS WHO DO EXCELLENT WORK

Parents of Appleton high school students who have done exceptional work during the first part of the school year are being sent cards by Lee C. Bessy, principal, expressing appreciation of the work done. About one-sixth of the student body, or 175 pupils, have merited this recognition.

He Coughed For Two Years Swore Off

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Broncholine Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

That's the kind of a cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Broncholine Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—these are the kind of coughs Broncholine likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grip or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Broncholine Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy and the best as never cheap. Knight's Drug Store, Union Pharmacy and dealers everywhere can supply you. adv.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c. adv.
